

Appendix B. Sample Preference Survey

When you think about possible treatments, what are the things about them that are MOST important to you, and what are the things that are LEAST important to you?

(1 of 15)

Most Important		Least Important
	When taking it, I can't do the things that I usually do.
	Five out of 10 people feel sleepy while taking it for as long as they take it.
	My doctor and I discuss my concerns about this medication.
	One out of three people have less pain when taking it.

The Preference Survey was comprised of 15 separate sheets as the one above in which 5 of the 9 key attributes regarding DPN medications were randomly listed. Patient-participants were asked to check the least and most important attribute on each sheet.
